Chairman Grassley, Ranking Member Durbin, and Members of the Senate Judiciary Committee:

We, the undersigned, proudly defended the rule of law as attorneys at the U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ). We are all alarmed by DOJ leadership's recent deviations from constitutional principles and institutional guardrails. We also share a grave concern over the senseless attacks on the dedicated career employees who are the backbone of the Department.

Emil Bove has been a leader in this assault. Despite that, he now stands before you as a nominee for a lifetime seat on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit. We ask that before the Judiciary Committee votes on this nomination, you rigorously examine the actions Mr. Bove has taken at DOJ and the effects they've had on the Department's integrity, employees, and mission-critical work. It is intolerable to us that anyone who disgraces the Justice Department would be promoted to one of the highest courts in the land, as it should be intolerable to anyone committed to maintaining our ordered system of justice.

Few actions could undermine the rule of law more than a senior executive branch official flouting another branch's authority. But that is exactly what Mr. Bove allegedly did through his involvement in DOJ's defiance of court orders, as described by former senior DOJ attorney Erez Reuveni in his whistleblower disclosure—the details of which are supported by contemporaneous communications between Department attorneys.¹ Such behavior, if substantiated, should not be countenanced.

As a 15-year attorney at the Department who was promoted under this Administration, Mr. Reuveni litigated some of the most divisive cases the Department has ever defended, many under President Trump.² But he knew, as all attorneys should know, that the ethical requirement to zealously represent one's client is not absolute; the duty of candor to the court must always come first. Mr. Reuveni refused to violate that duty—a choice that cost him his job.

The risks Mr. Reuveni took by later blowing the whistle should inspire everyone committed to preserving the rule of law. We all applaud his bravery, and we stand ready to support any DOJ employee who uses the proper channels to hold our government accountable.

Even putting aside the information that's surfaced about internal deliberations involving Mr. Bove, his denial that he sought to defy court orders strains credulity. Questioned repeatedly over whether he told DOJ attorneys to consider saying “fuck you” to courts, he mustered only an “I don't recall.”³ Each one of the undersigned would testify, under oath, that we have never—and would never—tell a Justice Department attorney to consider defying a court order. Moreover, the Justice Department's later defiance of judicial mandates in the cases where Mr. Bove previewed doing so further suggests that disregarding court orders was Mr. Bove's intent all along.⁴

Mr. Reuveni is far from the only DOJ attorney who has faced unconscionable ethical challenges of Mr. Bove's design. When Mr. Bove directed prosecutors in the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Southern District of New York (SDNY) and DOJ's Public Integrity Section to dismiss the case against New York Mayor Eric Adams, his actions gave the appearance of impermissible political considerations stemming from President Trump's immigration agenda. Former SDNY prosecutor Hagan Scotten encapsulated the problem in his resignation letter: “No system of ordered liberty can allow the Government to use the carrot of dismissing charges, or the stick of threatening to bring them again, to induce an elected official to support its policy objectives.”⁵

Mr. Bove's trampling over institutional norms in this case, and in others, sent shockwaves through the ranks—cratering morale, triggering mass departures, and eroding the effectiveness of DOJ's vital work. Prosecutorial authority carries profound consequences on individuals' lives and the integrity of our public institutions; wielding it without impartiality is a flagrant abuse of that power. Because impartiality is also a cornerstone of the judiciary, any failure to exercise it at DOJ must be carefully considered.

Mr. Bove's apparent lack of impartiality was also on full display when he punished those who pursued justice after the January 6 assault on the Capitol. Following President Trump's repeated promises of retribution, Mr. Bove directed the termination of over a dozen of those prosecutors. He also called for the firings of eight senior FBI officials who were involved in January 6-related investigations and sought the names of thousands more FBI agents for possible "additional personnel actions."⁶ Purging dedicated public servants for following the law was a betrayal of DOJ's law-enforcement principles and an affront to democratic values. Because Mr. Bove oversaw the investigation of January 6 suspects himself as an Assistant United States Attorney, it was also a breathtaking act of hypocrisy.⁷

Each of you was elected through a democratic process that, for nearly 250 years, has been anchored by the rule of law. But the law is only as strong as the institutions that interpret and enforce it; foremost among them, the federal judiciary and the Department of Justice. By elevating those who've degraded one of those institutions to lifetime seats on the other, you will have abrogated your duty to ensure that we remain a nation of laws.

We ask that you vote your conscience only after thoroughly and honestly investigating Mr. Bove's actions at the Justice Department, including by questioning current and former DOJ employees with information relevant to the aforementioned incidents and others. We also urge you to zealously exercise your oversight powers to protect the Justice Department against further attacks.

Thank you for your shared respect for our justice system—and your consideration of our deep concern for its future.
